November 2018

We have been having a great time celebrating the fall season in the art room. Students have been busy learning about famous artists and creating a variety of masterpieces. Check out some of their pieces below.

Fifth graders worked hard to come up with original designs that integrated symbols of America for their Veterans Day concert November 9th.

Fourth graders learned about the four main parts of a landscape (foreground, middle ground, background, and horizon line). They were required to come up with their own landscape design, then apply oil pastels and watercolors to mimic the painting style of Vincent Van Gogh.

Second grade also learned about Vincent Van Gogh but their artwork was inspired by his series of sunflower paintings. Instead of making a painting, they painted several different papers, then cut them up to make a collage.
